

1884, ch. 209.

51. The carrying of pheasants, partridges, squirrels or woodcock from door to door shall be prima facie evidence that the same were being offered for sale.

Ibid.

52. No person shall refuse to testify concerning any violations of the seven preceding sections, except when said person is on trial at the time; and said testimony shall not be used subsequently against the party so testifying.

Ibid.

53. Any justice of the peace of Frederick county shall have jurisdiction of any violations of said sections; and any person offending against any of the provisions of said sections, and being convicted thereof before a justice of the peace, shall forfeit the fine named in section 48, the one-half of which shall go to the informer, and the balance to the county commissioners; and if the offender, on being convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of said sections, shall fail to pay said fine and the costs, he shall be committed to the common jail of Frederick county, for every such offence, for not less than thirty days nor more than six months.

1888, ch. 252.

54. It shall not be lawful in Frederick county to shoot, kill, or in any way entrap or destroy any wild turkeys except between the fifteenth day of November and the fifteenth day of the following January. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a penalty of not less than five nor more than ten dollars for each and every offence, and on conviction before a justice of the peace in and for Frederick county shall be committed to the county jail until such penalty shall be paid; but such imprisonment shall not exceed one day for each dollar of penalty imposed.

1888, ch. 419.

55. It shall be unlawful for any person to snare or loop in any way any pheasant or partridge in Frederick county at any season
